

Delaware State University's dual master's degree program in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages/ Bilingual Education and Educational Leadership prepares educators for prominent leadership and service positions in schools and other institutions, while also readying them to meet the needs of bilingual and English as a second language learners.

Master of Arts in TESOL/Bilingual Education

The TESOL/Bilingual Education master's degree program is designed to provide students with an advanced level of expertise and thorough training on the theory and practice of teaching English to non-native speakers of English and/or bilingual learners. It readies students with the pedagogical and intellectual preparations necessary to teach in K-12 English Language Learner (ELL) or dual language immersion classrooms as well as in colleges, universities and language institutes both in the United States and internationally. Further, students with a pre- or co-requisite K-12 teaching certification earn secondary certification in Teacher of English Learners or Bilingual Teacher.

Master of Education in Educational Leadership (MEd)

The Educational Leadership master's degree program develops school leaders through new understandings related to leadership models and frameworks that support diverse, inclusive, equitable and safe learning environments. The program encourages academic and personal excellence through rigorous learning experiences in the areas of strategic leadership, ethical and reflective leadership, community leadership and instructional leadership. Emerging leaders will be able to translate authentic research on school leadership and society into quality practice.
